ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

The Channel Islands Family History Society would like to thank the following people for their assiduous work in the production of this Index. In spite of their skill and expertise, there is always the possibility of some errors. The handwriting of the enumerators, spelling mistakes or incorrect information given to the enumerator at the time of the census can all be causes of errors.

A question mark will indicate the uncertainty of accurate transcription.

Following the French custom, it is Jersey practice for married women to retain their maiden names. If the enumerator recorded the wife or widow under her maiden name, she is indexed under her married name with her maiden name in brackets. This convention has been adopted to make research easier. The maiden name continues to be used on legal documents to the present day.

JERSEY IN 1861

Ray Le Pivert and Mary Billot

The Jersey Census took place on April 8th 1861 and coincided with HM Government's Census of the complete British Isles.

The General Report was presented in 1863 to the Houses of Parliament and stated:

The population of Jersey is 55,613, down to which it has fallen from 57,620 at the previous census. The decrease is accounted for satisfactorily by Mr Gardner, the Government Secretary. It is fairly attributable not so much to any decline in the advantages of Jersey as to the diminution of the disadvantages under which the English mainland laboured by heavy fiscal duties, which the progress of the public revenue and of free trade has enabled the Chancellor of the Exchequer to remove.

This was the third decennial Census where the individual names of all the persons on the Island were recorded. As before, there was again some dissent but the obligation to obey the law prevented any trouble. From the very detailed Report and the statistical tables therein, a few of the more interesting facts for Jersey on Census day 1861, are shown here:

LOCAL MATTERS OF INTEREST

Collated from Jersey newspapers and almanacs

THE DEATH OF THE PRINCE CONSORT

December 14th 1861

On Wednesday 18th December 1861, the Chronique de Jersey had thick black-ink borders. The newspaper recorded the death, four days earlier, of Francis Albert Auguste Charles Emanuel, Duke of Saxe, Prince of Saxe-Coburg & Gotha; K.G., K.T., K.P., G.C.B., G.C.M.G., L.L.D., D.C.L., Ph.D., the second son of Ernest, Duke of Saxe-Coburg and his first wife, Dorsthen Louisa, born on 26th August 1819 at Rosenau Castle, Bavaria. He was the Prince Consort, husband of Queen Victoria. Jersey had been represented widely at London's Great Exhibition, sponsored and part organized by Prince Albert in 1851. For the State Funeral in London, all shops and businesses in Jersey remained closed as a mark of the Island's respect.

January 2nd : The States

The States, called upon to reform their own defective institutions, resolved not to modify the present constitution of the Court, and appointed a committee of twenty four of their members to carry out the minor considerations of the Commissioners' Report. [Royal Commission to enquire into the Jersey laws and their administration 1859-1860].

January 20th : Death of Mrs Crump

This month was noted for the death and funeral of a lady who, as an authoress, was well known in the world of letters, and who during her life was honored with the high regard of Byron, Sir Walter Scott and Campbell. This was no other than the beauteous Mary Grace Susanna Crump, whose talents as a writer had won for her universal praise, as those who have read her works are aware. Isabel de St. Abbé, Geraldine of Desmont, and The Death Flag (each separate work in three volumes), besides several articles on Animal Magnetism which appeared in The Polytechnic Review, are the most prominent of her works, all of which reveal the refined feelings by which she was actuated. After the death of her husband, the Comte de Villiers, she left Paris which she had inhabited since her marriage, and sought in the peaceful valleys and glades of Jersey that retirement so beneficial to literary persons and for five years enjoyed the sweets of a peaceful and retired life. She died on the 20th of this month at Egerton Place, Rouge Bouillon, and her mortal remains were deposited in the New Cemetery a few days afterwards.

February 2nd : The Treaty of Commerce

The Treaty of Commerce between England and France ignored the Channel Islands. Steps were taken by the local authorities to be included in its provisions. After some delay this was conceded under certain conditions, to which the Jersey States demurred. Perceiving it was useless to stand out against its provisions, they agreed to recall certain prohibitive regulations which prevented the free introduction of cider, apples, pears, and cows from France. When admitted, these last are to be branded with a hot iron, so as to prevent them from deteriorating the native breed.

By a circular dated 2nd of February 1861, from Paris, it was enacted that to give full effect to the Treaty of Commerce between England and France the products of the Islands of Jersey and Guernsey should be admitted into France, on the same conditions as those of Great Britain.

February 22nd : House of Commons

In the House of Commons, in answer to Mr Serjeant Pigott, M.P. for Reading, Sir G.C. Lewis, Secretary of State, said it was not the intention of Government to bring in a bill affecting Jersey.

February 14th : The States

Meeting of the States; debate on the Commissioners' Recommendations.

February 19th : New Court-House

A Committee of the States recommended the rebuilding of the Court House, and estimated the cost at £5,000, which the administrators of the Impôt are to supply.

March 2nd : Erection of a Lunatic Asylum

The Assembly of the Lieutenant-Governor, Bailiff and Jurats voted £5,000 towards the erection of a Lunatic Asylum, after fifteen years of debate.

March 13th : Election of the Town Constable

The Constable of St. Helier's parish, Philip Aubin, Esq., whose triennial term of office ended on the 13th of March, declined to be put up for a renewal of his office. Consequently other candidates appeared in the field. The first to offer his services for that responsible office was G.H. Horman, Esq., the second John Gibaut, Esq., both members of the Jersey Bar, whose respective friends canvassed the town for votes on behalf of their favourite candidate.

The two candidates brought their respective forces in the field, and after a warm contest the result of the poll was as follows : for J. Gibaut Esq. 499; for G. H. Horman, Esq., 294 votes. J. Gibaut Esq. was proclaimed Constable of the Parish, and sworn in accordingly a few days afterwards.

March 14th : Death of the Greffier, Charles Ahier, Esq.

On Thursday, the 14th of March, Charles Ahier Esq. Clerk or Greffier of the Court, after a long illness, died at the age of 52. He was succeeded in that office by Gervaise Le Gros, Esq., late an Advocate of the same Court.

March 20th : Discovery of false coins

A labouring man, employed in cutting furze on the slopes of Mèlèches Hill suddenly and most unexpectedly discovered what at first sight he imagined a treasure. This was a mass of foreign spurious coins, consisting of both English and French pieces, half-crowns, five shilling pieces, and five-franc pieces, the first bearing the effigy of George the Fourth, the last of Napoleon the Third, present Emperor of the French. The disappointment of the poor man may be conceived when he found his mistake.

April 3rd : Parish rating

The new mode of assessing the parish rates took place during this month, according to a new system of rating established by the States to rectify the defective and much complained of act hitherto in force, by which the Parish Meeting, or Vestry, had the extensive control of taxing whom they pleased and how they pleased. The number of quarters to which the Town and parish of St. Helier is assessed amounts to 66,671.

April 8th : The General Census

Jersey had 8,338 inhabited houses, 367 uninhabited houses (245 in St Helier), and 46 being built (30 in St Helier).

April 13th : Exports from the Channel Islands

As a proof of the increasing prosperity of Jersey trade and commerce, it may be mentioned that exports from the island, which in 1859 only reached £478,055, amounted to £696,531 in 1860, which shows an increase of £218,476 within the year – a fact which speaks highly in favour of native industry and intelligence. In connection with this subject may be mentioned that, by the recent assessment, the landing property of the town parish, valued at £19 per quarter gives an estimate of £2,407,395, the number of quarters being 126,705.

May 7th : Change of regimental quarters

The 30th Regiment quartered in Jersey, whose excellent band will long be remembered among the inhabitants, having been under orders to remove their quarters, Her Majesty's steamer Diadem with the 55th on board, made her appearance in the roadstead in the beginning of May and after landing her living cargo, and taken charge of the men of the 30th, whose behaviour during their stay in the Island was exemplary.

May 20th : Water supply

Public meeting to promote the establishment of a water company in St Helier.

May 27th : The Right of the British Parliament to legislate for the Channel Islands to be established

Mr Serjeant Pigott, M.P. for Reading, in the House of Commons, alluding to the Commissioners' Report, asked the Secretary of State, Sir George Lewis, whether the Government intended to bring in a bill to amend the laws and constitution, and the procedure of the Jersey Courts. Sir George Lewis admitted that many abuses existed in the island, and, after doubting whether the Privy Council was the proper authority to legislate on the matter, clearly admitted Parliament to have that power. The consideration of the subject was a matter of time.

June 26th : House of Commons

Mr Serjeant Pigott's Bill, after a debate on the motion for its second reading, was withdrawn.

July 1st : Typhus fever

Mr Arthur, Governor of the Hospital since 1856, died of typhus fever, aged 45.

July 3rd : Clameur de haro

Mr Peter Brouard appeared in the Royal Court, and raised the Clameur de Haro, apparently against the Court in general, and Mr Jurat Nicolle in particular. The Bailiff, seemingly, having no respect for Haro, refused the Clameur, and ordered Mr Brouard to be turned out of Court.

July 18th

The New Congregational Church opened in Victoria Street, St Helier.

July 26th : Lunatic Asylum

The question of building an Asylum for the Lunatics, being undecided, and difficulties having arisen as to the selection of a site for building one, the Lieutenant-Governor made an offer of the Queen's Farm, on a lease of 99 years, at the rate of £70 a year. The States, led by the ex-proprietor of Bagatelle Retreat, rejected the offer, upon which Mr Potheary, the present proprietor of that establishment, modestly came to offer it for sale at the rate of £12,000. The result of this vote gave rise to a memorable conflict between the States and the Lieutenant-Governor.

July 30th : Act of veto

Great excitement occasioned by the announcement that the Lieutenant-Governor had placed his veto on the Act of the States on the 26th July.

September 13th : Petition for reform

Petition presented from 1,001 of the inhabitants, praying the States to proceed with the work of reform to avert Parliamentary interference. [A.J Le Cras was the chief proponent of reform].

September 15th

Six Rues Wesleyan Chapel opened in St Lawrence.

September 21st

The promoters of the Petition of 1,001 presented a copy of that document to the Lieutenant-Governor. Formation of the Jersey Constitutional Reform Association.

October : An Armorial of Jersey

J. Bertrand Payne started publication in parts of An Armorial of Jersey.

October 23rd : Typhus fever

Public announcement of the spread of typhus fever in the town of St Helier.

November 13th : St Helier

St Helier's Parish Assembly : resolutions in favour of King Street and other improvements adopted.

November 29th : Polish exiles

The Polish exiles and their friends celebrated the anniversary of the revolution of 1830 by a meeting at the Pomme d'Or Hotel.

IMPORTS AND EXPORTS IN 1861

from Jersey Independent Almanac, 1862

The Almanac comments that 'the commerce of Jersey is large; its staple trade being to Newfoundland for the cod fishery, and a large direct trade with the Brazils; nearly all the necessities of life for 60,000 inhabitants are imported from France and England'. A table lists the imports and exports for the four years from 1859 to 1861. These statistics do not include the world wide carrying trade of Jersey's shipping fleet.

Exports in 1861 were (in alphabetical order) : apples, bricks (over 2 million), butter, cider, cows & heifers (1,819 head), grapes, oysters, pears, potatoes and various fruits. Further research would be required to show whether these exports mostly went to England.

The list of imports shows that Jersey was bringing in vast quantities of beer, wines, liqueurs, gin, spirits, rum, brandy and whisky, presumably from France. However none of these headings feature amongst the exports, which raises the question whether the island could really absorb such amounts and what was the ultimate destination for all this alcohol. Nearly 16 million eggs were also imported, again a huge number for 55,000 people.

The other more mundane headings for the imports are staple goods, which Jersey could not supply for itself in sufficient quantities. These were : barley, butter, cattle (4,157) and calves (1,719), coals, flour, fowls, oats, potatoes, pigs, sheep, tea and wheat. Local farmers had a shortfall in cereal crops for feeding their livestock and flour was needed for the bakers. The cattle and calves were probably destined for the abattoir.
